INDEX.

 All Books must be looked for under the Author's name.

Acton, Philip, "Etchings in Verse," 525

Adams, A. Leith, "Field and Forest Rambles," 232

"Alcestis," 262

Alexander, W. D. S., "The Lonely Guiding Star," 525

"Alford, Henry, D.D., Life, Journals, and Letters of," 242

Ali, Syed Ameer, "A Critical Examination of his Life and Teachings of Mohammed," 246

Amos, Sheldon, M.A., "A Primer of the English Constitution and Government," 477

"Anderson, Rev. William, LL.D., Life of," by G. Gilfillan, 247

——— Col. R. P., "Victories and Defeats. An Attempt to explain the Causes which have led to them," 484

"Annual Register, The," 254

Apocalypse, The, 338-361; its claims to a place in the Canon, 338; objections to it raised by Dionysius, 339; arguments of the Alogi, 339; Victorinus upon the Apocalypse, 340; discrepancies amongst the various expositors of the Apocalypse, 340, 341; the "white horse" variously explained, Anselm, Joachim Abbas, Berengaud, &c., 341, 342; various explanations of the seals, 342; Mr. Elliott's work on the Apocalypse, 342; general objections to the various explanations, 343; further criticisms on Dr. Keith's and Mr. Elliott's interpretations, 344; on Fleming's interpretations, 345; M. Renan, 345; date of the Apocalypse, 346; Nero the Antichrist, 346; reflections on, 347; Renan's account of the first century, 348; the number seven, 349; the description of the Son of Man, 349; Ezekiel reproduced in the Apocalypse, 350; the Roman Empire the first seal, 351; various other seals, 352; plague of locusts, 352, 353; Jerusalem in the Apocalypse, 353; the Dragon and the Woman, 354; the beast with the seven heads and the ten horns, 355; does not refer to the Papacy, 355; the second beast with horns like a lamb, 356; the number of the first beast, 357; the apotheosis of celibacy in ch. xiii. 4, 357; the battle of Armageddon, 358; the eighth king, Nero, "the beast," 359; the object of the writer of the Apocalypse, 360; how far it has been fulfilled, 360; the study of the Apocalypse, 360, 361; to what purpose, 361; M. Renan's place as a commentator and critic, 361

Appleby, J., "Le Circe," 265

Armstrong, G. F., "Poems," 265

"Army Medical Report," 492

"Association, Land Tenure Reform. Report of the Public Meeting of, March 18th, 1873," 475

Austin, Alfred, "Madonna's Child," 265

Baker, B., C.E., "Long Span Railway Bridges," 489

Bastian, Dr. Adolf, "Ethnologische Forschungen," 221

Bendorf, Otto, "Die Metopen von Selinunt," 252, 530

Benedict, F. L., "Miss Dorothy's Charge," 520

Bishops in the House of Lords, 110, 128; appearance of the bishops in the House, 110; their general character, 110; their pay, 110, 111; the preservation of bishops in the House, 111; their position in the days of Henry VIII., 112; in those of Elizabeth, 112, 113; in those of James I.,

113; in those of the Stuarts, 113; their conduct with regard to the Conventicle Act, the Five-mile Act, and the Test Act, 114; their conduct with regard to the Exclusion Bill, 114; the Episcopal Bench in the reign of William III., 115; their opposition in 1753–1796, 115; their further opposition and conduct of late years examined, 116; the Bishops during the American War, 117; their support of slavery, 117; their opposition to the Reform Bill in 1831, 117; the general conduct, forms of mind, and motives of Bishops analysed, 118, 119; Bright's definition of a spiritual peer—"a creature of monstrous and adulterous birth," 119; the position of the Establishment and spiritual peers, 119; the position of Bishops, and Archbishops, 120; casuistry of, 121; the case of Prebendary P., 122; outward show connected with Episcopacy, 123; Bishop D., 123; occupies six seats in a railway carriage, 124; the false position of Bishops, 124; Mr. Gladstone's defence of spiritual peerages, 125, 126; Mr. Gladstone's argument examined, 126, 127; clergymen in the House of Commons, 127; how Bishops are chosen, 128; future prospects, 128

Black, R., M.A., see Guizot, H.

——— "The Blackbird of Baden," 261

Blackley, C. H., "Experimental Researches on Hay Fever," 494

Bonwick, James, F.R.G.S., "The Tasmanian Lily," 260

Boult, J., F.R.I.R.A., "The Angles, Jutes, and Saxons," 512

Bradby, E. H., M.A., "Sermons Preached at Haileybury," 463

" Bramble, Reginald," 260

Bray, Charles, "Illusion or Delusion, or Modern Pantheism versus Spiritualism," 472

Brenchley, Julius L., "Jottings during the cruise of H.M.S. Curaçoa among the South Sea Islands, in 1865," 232

Brewer, J. S., M.A., see Giraldus

Brittlebank, W., "Persia during the Famine," 483

Brooke, Rev. Stopford A., M.A., "The New Aspect of Christian Theology," 462

Brome, R., "Dramatic Works," 529

Browne, Dr. C., "West Riding Lunatic Asylum Medical Reports," 492

Browning, G., "Napoleon III.," 254

Browning, R., "Red Cotton Night-Cap Country," 262

Browne, Rawdon, "Calendar of State Papers, Venice," 505

Buchheim, C. A., "German Classics," 509

——— "Minna von Barnhelm," 510

Burckhart, D. J., "The Cicerone in Italy," 486

CAIRNES, J. E., M.A., "Essays on Political Economy," 214

——— "Political Essays," 474

Calvert, J., F.G.S., "Kulu and the Silver Country of the Vazeers," 227

Camden, Charles, "The Travelling Menagerie," 261

Campbell, D.D., Rev. John McLeod, "Responsibility for the Gift of Eternal Life," 200

——— Lewis, Rev., M.A., "The Plays of Sophocles," 270

Campbell, Rev. W., M.A., "Materials for the reign of Henry VII.," 505

" Catholica via," 202

Catholicism and Philosophy, 397—414; Science and the Church opposed, 397; the two ideals of life, 397; the temper of the scientific man, 398; his mental attitude, 398; knowledge is reasoned fact, 399; the belief of the Catholic Church, 399; the doctrine of transubstantiation, 399, 400; the clerical attitude of mind opposed to the scientific, 400; a supposed case of a Catholic studying science, and the results, 400, 401; the inability of the clergy to understand the Darwinian theory, 401, 402; the clerical habit of begging the question, 402; of accepting on trust, 402, 403; the full meaning of subscription to a tenet, 403; how learning is a hindrance to a Christian, 404; Christ's kingdom almost incompatible with the electric telegraph, 404; the case of the early Christians, 405; Catholicism opposes to doubt infallibility, to experiment dogma, to verification authority, to reason faith, 405; how far Tacitus's account of Christianity is true, 406; the position of the Catholic student in England, 407; the education difficulty 407; the duty of Liberalism, in the present crisis, 408; the duty of the State towards religion, 409; how Catholicism is to be met and encountered, 410; how the education of the masses should be regarded by a Philosophical Liberal, 410, 411; the creed of Liberalism, 412; religion an affair of each individual conscience alone, 413; the duty of Liberal statesmen at the present moment, 414

"Century, Our First," 459
Chatrian, MM. Erckmann-, "The Brothers Rantzau," 260
Clary, Rev. G. J., M.A., "The Virgin Mary and the Tradition of Painters," 536
Clayton, Cecil, "Effie's Game," 262
Clerk, Mrs. G., "Ilâm-en-nâs," 511
Clodd, Edward, F.R.A.S., "The Childhood of the World," 253
"Codrington, Memoir of the Life of Sir Edward," 243
"Coins, Catalogue of, in the British Museum," 531
"Colebrook, H. T., Life of," by his Son, 245
Colenzo, Right Rev. J. W., "The New Bible Examined," 203
——— "Lectures on the Pentateuch," 454
"Coleridge, Memoir and Letters of Sara," 498
Collins, Mortimer, "Miranda: A Midsummer Madness," 520
Colomb, Captain, R.N., "Slave Catching in the Indian Ocean," 221
Compayre, Gabriel, "La Philosophie de David Hume," 209
"Contrasts. Dedicated to the Ratepayers of London," 218
Conyers, A., "Chesterleigh," 262
Coolie Trade in China, Emigration and the, 75—109; general survey of the question, 75; population of China, 76; Chinese labour affected by the suppression of the slave-trade, 76; derivation of the word "coolie," 77 (foot-note); manner of obtaining the coolies, 77; hardships undergone by, 77; terms of servitude, 77; in Peru and the Cincha Islands, 78; the horrors of slavery in the Cincha Islands, 78; Governor Amaral and Macao, 79; Cuba and the coolie traffic, 80; the "barracoons" of Macao, 81; how the coolies were obtained, 81; the Puntis and the Hakkas, 82; the Procurador at Macao, 83; state of affairs at Whampoa in 1856–57, 83; Sir Rutherford Alcock's language on the coolie trade, 84; the exertions of Sir Harry Parkes, 84, 85; examination of a coolie, 85; legislative enactments, 86; female emigrants required, 87; scene at an emigration office, 88; a French depôt, 89; fresh outrages, 90; table of emigrants landed in Cuba from 1847 to 1866, 91; the Spanish code of rules, 91; Article vii., 91, 92; the coolie in Cuba (foot-note), 92; the Echo do Povo, 93; memoir drawn up by Senhor Fernandes, 94; Vice-Admiral Sergio da Souza as new Governor in 1868, 95; his regulations ineffectual, 96; mutinies by the coolies, 96, 97; case of the Pride of the Ganges, 97; of the Nouvelle Pénélope, 97; judgment in the matter of Kwok-a-Sing on Habeas Corpus, 99; Sir Brooke Robertson's report, 99; authorized emigration at Canton, 100; results, 101; the despatch of Mr. Vœux to Earl Grenville in 1869, 102; Mr. Jenkins's summary, 103; further evidence of Mr. Jenkins, 103, 104; exertions of Mr. James Crosby, 105; resolution by the Governor and Council of British Guiana, 105; conclusion of the commissioners, 106; remarks by the commissioners on some of the peculiarities of the Chinese, 106; opium smoking, 107; extract from a paper by Sir G. Young, 107; from Mr. Jenkins, 108; the conduct of Portugal, 109; proposals for reform of Portuguese abuses, 109
Cotterill, H. B., "Proems," 265
"Coventry, The Historical Collections of Walter of." Edited by W. Stubbs, M.A., 248
"Cradle, The Gaol: Who Rocks It?" 479
Crombie, J. M., M.D. "The Induction of Sleep, and Insensibility to Pain," 496
"Crooked Places," 521
Cyril, Bishop of Alexandria, "The Arguments of the Emperor Julian against the Christians." Edited by Willis Nevins, 460

DALE, Reginald F., M.A., "A Music Primer for Schools," edited by, and Rev. John Troutbeck, M.A., 540
Davies, Rev. J. Llewelyn, M.A., "Theology and Morality: Essays on Questions of Belief and Practice," 205
Dekker, Thomas, "Dramatic Works of," 528
Donelan, A. M., "What 'tis to Love," 262
Donne, William Bodham, "Tacitus," 509
Downton, Henry, M.A., "Hymns and Verses," 464

Drummond, R. B., B.A., "Erasmus: his Life and Character," 497
Drysdale, Dr. C. R., "Syphilis: Nature and Treatment," 494
Dümmler, Ernst, "Anselm der Peripatetiker," 251
Dunn, Henry, "Brief Notes on Mr. Matthew Arnold's Literature and Dogma," 454
Dunsany, Lord, "Gaul or Teuton," 217
Dyer, T. H., D.D., "A Plea for Livy," 513

EATON, Rev. J. R. T., "The Permanence of Christianity," considered in Eight Lectures preached before the University of Oxford in the year 1872, 456
——— Thomas Damant, "Musical Criticism and Biography," 537
Economist, An Early French, 44-66; Boisguilbert, his history, 44; St. Simon on, 44; his interview with Pontchartrain, 45; his "Détail de la France," 45; his acquaintance with Marshal Vauban, 45; his interview with Chamillart, 45; his exile, 45, 46; pardon and return to Rouen, 46; his death in 1714, 46; description of France in the 17th century, by Vauban, Fénélon, and La Bruyère, 46; a statement of the evils which Vauban and Boisguilbert proposed to ameliorate, 47; Colbert, 47; his evil influences, 48; the tailles, 48, 49; the aides, 49, 50; Boisguilbert upon these taxes, 50, 51; remedies proposed by Boisguilbert, 51, 52; his six propositions stated, 53; Boisguilbert's general views, 54; his place as a political economist, 54, 55; non-intervention the essence of Boisguilbert's theory, 55, 56; the "Laisser faire" doctrine, 56; Boisguilbert's great merit as a practical economist, 56, 57; principles of taxation, 58; Boisguilbert on taxation, 58; on community of interests, 58, 59; on custom's duties, 60; on export duties, 60; on the causes which lead to famines, 61; on the evils of a bad administration, 62; on a tax on real property, 63; on the wealth of a country, 64; on money, 64; on poverty, 65; on the non-interference of government, 65, 66
Edwards, Amelia B., "Untrodden Peaks and Unfrequented Valleys," 483
Egremont, Godfrey, "Poems and Songs," 525
"Elgin, Letters and Journals of James, Eighth Earl of," edited by Theodore Walrond, 244
"English Dialect Society, The," 267
Ethics, Religion, and the Church, 424—450; difficulties involved in the subject, 424, 425; remarks and criticisms on Mr. Booth's and Mr. Greg's works, 425; extracts from Mr. Booth's "The Problem of the World," 425, 426; the doctrine that evil springs from ignorance, 426, 427; the remedy suggested, 427; extract from Mr. Greg, 427; the "perfection of the race" doctrine, 428; Christ's knowledge of human life, its joys and sorrows, limited, 429; views regarding evil, 429; what is happiness? 430; the important part played by the law of compensation, 431; the idea of God (foot note), 431; Madame de Staël's definition of happiness, 432; the object of man's existence, 432; extract from Mr. Greg, 433; one of the faults of the "Enigmas of Life" characterized, 434; its melancholy tone, 434, 435; death, 435; extract from Mr. Booth concerning the position and doctrines of the Church, 436, 437; the shortcomings of the Church considered, 438; religious instruction, 439; educational schemes of the late Prince Consort, 440; further extracts from Mr. Booth and Mr. Greg, 441, 442; religious teaching considered, 442; public prayers, 443; public worship, 444; considerations regarding the Church services, 445; want of earnestness in congregations, 446; Mr. Booth's remarks on, 446; the working man and the Church, 447; the Protestant Church and the Catholic Church, 448; spiritual consciousness, 449; final criticism on Mr. Booth's and Mr. Greg's works, 450

FERGUSON, Robert, "The Dialect of Cumberland," 266
Flammarion, Camille, "The Atmosphere," 228
"Forbes, James David, F.R.S., Life and Lectures of," edited by J. C. Shairp, LL.D., &c. &c., 242
"France and Its Government," 173–197; Mr. Matthew Arnold on France, 173; Catholicism in Germany, 174; in Belgium, 174; in Ireland, 174; the world's interest in French politics, 175; recent changes in France, 175; M. Thiers, 176; the denouement at

Versailles in May, 176, 177; M. Thiers's position, 177; the Pact of Bordeaux, 178; the overthrow of M. Thiers, 178, 179; M. Thiers's policy, 179; its consequences, 180; negotiations, 181; spirit of the Conservatives, 182; the general situation of parties, 183; compromise no longer possible, 184; extract from the Constitutionnel, 184, 185; tactics of the Opposition, 185; M. Thiers's speech, 186; his reference to the Duc de Broglie, 186; speech of M. Casimir Périer, 187; scene during the voting, 188; majority against the Government, 188; retirement of M. Thiers, 189; Marshal Macmahon as President, 190; the composition of the ministry, 191; character of Marshal Macmahon, 191, 192; the Revue des Deux Mondes upon, 192; the substance of the change, 192; the danger ahead, 193; the spirit of the large towns, 194; M. Gambetta, 194; the probable action and policy of the Government, 195; the chances for the future, 196; a forecast judging by the past, 196; the future of the Government and of France, 197

Fraser, John, "Scottish Class-Books," 526

"French Home Life," 480

Frere, Sir Bartle, "Pandurang Hari. Memoirs of a Hindoo," 245

Friedländer, M., Ph.D., "Miscellany of Hebrew Literature," 464

G. J. M., "The Lunacy and State Prisons of Great Britain and Ireland," 235

Galabin, A. L., M.D., "The Connexion of Bright's Disease with Changes in the Vascular System," 495

Gilfillan, G., see Anderson, Rev. W.

"Giraldi Cambrensis Opera," edited by J. S. Brewer, M.A., 505

Glennie, John Stuart, "In the Morningland; or, The Law of the Origin and Transformation of Christianity," 465

"Gospel History, The, and Doctrinal Teaching Critically Examined," 198

Gostwick, J., "Outlines of German Literature," edited by, and A. R. Harrison, 510

Graduate, Old, "Remarks on Paley's Evidences," 201

Griffiths, Captain Arthur, "The Queen's Shilling," 519

Grote, The Personal Life of George, 129—172; Grote, Mill, and Bentham, 129; the three periods in the life of Grote, 130; Mrs. G. Grote's life of her husband, 131; its style and merits, 132; the history of the Grote family, 132; Grote at the Charterhouse, 133; in the bank at sixteen, 133; Grote in Threadneedle Street, and Gibbon at Oxford, 134, 135; Grote's own feelings on the subject, 135, 136; Harriet Lewin, 137; opposition of Grote's father to the marriage, 137; Grote on Lucretius, 137, 138; his acquaintance with James Mill and Ricardo, 138, 139; his opinion of James Mill, 138, 139; acquaintance with Bentham, 139; radicalism in 1837; the Times calls Grote a political shoeblack, 141; extract from Grote's diary, 141; his marriage, 141, 142; his first literary work, 142; married life, 142, 143; change of residence, 143; discussions on Grecian History, 143, 144; letter from Niebuhr to Grote, 144; business matters, 145; the foundation of London University, 144; Grote's studies at this period, 145; Grote and the French Revolution in 1830, 145, 146; Grote as candidate for the City of London, 146; the second period of Grote's life, 147; his motion on the Ballot, 147, 148; opinions on his speech, 148; summary of his Parliamentary career, 148; his acquaintance with Sir George Cornewall Lewis, 149; on Comte's "Traité de Philosophie Positive," 149; letter to Cornewall Lewis, 149; retires from Parliament, 150; at Burnham Beeches, 151; retires from the Bank, 151; makes the acquaintance of Comte, 151; his opinions on Comte, 152, 153; appearance of the first two volumes of the History of Greece, 153, 154; its reception, 154; his journey to Switzerland and its results, 155; the Bishop of St. David's on the History of Greece, 155, 156; conclusion of the History, 156; contrast between Grote and Gibbon, 156, 157; "The Club," 157; inflammation of the eyes, 157; life at Barrow Green, 157; letter to Cornewall Lewis, 158; death of Lewis, 158; visit to Oxford, 159; appearance of his "Plato," 159; the article De Animâ, 160; offer of a peerage, 161; on the Ballot in 1870, 162; his views on Republican Institutions, 162, 163; on the Franco-Germanic war, 163; his death and burial, 163; his general character, 164; his History of Greece, 164, 165;

German opinion on, 165; Grote on the mutilation of the Hermæ, 166, 167; on Nikias, 167, 168; his "Plato," 169; criticisms on, 170; Grote's analysis of Νόμος, 171, 172; his "Aristotle," 172; conclusion, 172

Greenwell, Dora, "The Soul's Legend," 265

Gubernatis, Angelo, "Zoological Mythology, or the Legends of Animals," 252

Guizot, H., "The History of France," translated by R. Black, M.A., 254, 513

Gwilim, The Poems of Dafydd ab, 375—396; account of his life, 375; his youth, 376; falls in love with his pupil, 376; enrolled in the order of minstrels, 376; his rivals, 377; personal recollections of Dafydd ab Gwilim, 377; poems to his love, 377, 378; his meeting with Morvyth, 378, 379; his love-song to, 379; another love-song, 380; marriage with Morvyth repudiated by her friends, 381; Morvyth married to another, 381; the poet in prison, 381; poems to Morvyth, 382; Ab Gwilim at the Abbey of Strata Florida, 382; description of the abbey, 382, 383; the idyll of "The Poet and the Maid," 383; "The Month of May," 384, 385; Ab Gwilim's allusion to the religious practices of his day, 386; his apology for writing love-songs, 387; "The Poet and his Shadow," 387, 388, 389; the chief characteristic of his lyrics, 389; extracts from a love-scene, 390, 391; "The Poet sends the Summer to Glamorgan," 391, 392, 393; the metrical system of his poems, 393, 394; adaptability of the Welsh language to poetry, 394; critical and philosophical remarks, 395; the text of Ab Gwilim, 395, 396; a new text and new edition of Ab Gwilim, 396

H. H. "Bits of Talk About Home Matters," 528

Haddon, A.W., D.D., "Councils and Ecclesiastical Documents Relating to Great Britain and Ireland," 451

Hamerton, P. G., "The Intellectual Life," 486

Handelman, H. "Die Amtlichen Ausgrabungen auf Syllt," 252

Hardy, Sir Thomas, D.C.L., "Syllabus of the Documents contained in the Collection known as Rymer's Fœdera," 249

——— "Registrum Palatinum Dunelmense," 505

Harrison, R., see Gostrick, J.

Haughton, Rev. Samuel, F.R.S., "Principles of Animal Mechanics," 228

Hawthorn, Julian, "Bressant: a Romance," 259

Helmholtz, Professor, "Popular Scientific Lectures," translated by E. Atkinson, 230

Helps, Sir Arthur, "Some Talk about Animals and their Masters," 269

Hengly, L., M.A., "The Scholar's Arithmetic," 477

Hermes, "Another World," 485

Hervey, Lord Arthur, "The Taking of Alba," 267

Hillebrand, Karl, "Frankreich und die Franzosen, 226

Hirt, Ludwig, "Die Krankheiten der Arbeiter," 493

"Hodge Podge," 525

Home Rule, 362–374; the cry of "Ireland for the Irish," 362; summary of Irish history, 363; Ireland and the Protestant Religion, 363; rebellions and their results, 364; the battle of races, 365; rebellion of 1641, 365; Cromwell's policy, 365; struggles of the Irish Catholics, 366; the society of United Irishmen, 367; the rebellion of 1798, 367; the rebellion of 1848, 367; the religious difficulty, 368, 369; the tactics of the Catholic Church, 369, 370; views held in Ireland at the present moment, 370; anecdote illustrating the spirit of the Orange party, 370, 371; further illustrations, 371; what are the causes of Irish discontent? 371; the three leading questions of the day, 371, 372; prospects of Catholic ascendency, 372; condition of the Bar and the Magistracy, 372; the taxation grievance, 373; the late Earl of Clancarty's scheme, 373; the Irish and the Royal Family, 374; evils of absenteeism, 374; concluding remarks and suggestions, 374

Hore, Rev. A. H., "Church and No Church," 464

Houghton, Lord, "Monographs, Personal and Social," 238

Howe, Cupples, "The Deserted Ship," 261

Howson, John S., D.D., "The Character of St. Paul," 463

Hunt, Rev. John, M.A., "Religious Thought in England from the Reformation to the End of the Last Century," 461

Huxley, Professor, F.R.S., "Critiques and Addresses," 230

Jackson, T. G., "Modern Gothic Architecture," 534
Jelf, Rev. R. W., D.D., "The Thirty-nine Articles of the Church of England, explained in a Series of Lectures," 455
"Jesus of Nazareth, on the Divinity of," 202
Jessop, Aug., D.D., "Primitive Liturgies and Confessions of Faith contained in the Writings of the New Testament," 200
Juvenal, Mr. Lewis's, 66—74; different views on translation, 66; Göthe on, 66; Pope's Iliad and Munro's Lucretius compared, 66, 67; Mr. Lewis's translation of Juvenal, 67; Mayor's edition of Juvenal, 67; the capella difficulty in the Fifth Satire, 68, 69; the Sixth Satire, 69; its sarcasms on women, 69; on the noisy literary woman, 69; the Eighth Satire, 70; the Tenth Satire, 70; Ribbeck's theory on, 70; Mr. Lewis's translation of the passage about Hannibal, 71; the nullum numen habes difficulty, 71; satisfactorily solved by Mr. Lewis, 71; the character of Mr. Lewis's annotations and quotations, 71, 72; Mr. Lewis's observations on the characteristics of Juvenal, 77, 78, 79; Mr. Lewis's method of dealing with a certain class of personages, 74; general criticism on Mr. Lewis's edition, 74

Keim, Dr. Theodore, "The History of Jesus of Nazara," 451
Kenna, Mac, S. J., "Plucky Fellows," 261
Kenyon, Hon. George T., M.A., "The Life of Lloyd, first Lord Kenyon, Lord Chief Justice of England," 500
"King's, The, Stratagem," 526
Knight, Charles, "Passages of a Working Life During Half a Century," 241

"Lady's, My, Cabinet," 536
Lane, E., M.D., "Old Medicine and New," 494
Latham, Baldwin, C.E., "Sanitary Engineering," 490
"Lauterdale," 521
Lee, Dr. R. J., "Exercise and Training," 235
—— S., M.A., see Lonsdale, J., M.A.
"Legal Profession, The, Viewed in the Light of its Past History, its Present State, and Projected Law Reforms," 221
Lenoir, Paul, "The Fayoum, or Artists in Egypt," 226
Lewes, George H., "The Story of Goethe's Life," 241
Lewins, Robert, M.D., "Life and Mind: their Unity and Materiality," 458
Lewis, D., M.D., "Thoughts Selected from the Works of Francis Bacon," 496
Liberal, A Birmingham, "Citizenship versus Secularists and Sacerdotalists in the Matter of National Teaching," 219
Lieblein, I., "Recherches sur la Chronologie Égyptienne," 252
Liefde, Jacob De, "The Great Dutch Admirals," 253
Livingston, E., "Works on Criminal Jurisprudence," 478
Lockyer, J. Norman, F.R.S., "Nature Series. The Spectroscope and its Applications," 490
Lodge, Rev. R., "Palladius on Husbondrie," 249
Longman, W., F.S.A., "A History of the Three Cathedrals Dedicated to St. Paul," &c., 532
Lonsdale, J., M.A., "The Works of Horace," edited by, and S. Lee, M.A., 508
Lytton, Lord, "Kenelm Chillingley," 257

Maack, Dr. P. H. K. V., "Die Entzifferung des Etruskischen," u.s.w., 250
Macaulay, J., M.A., "Ireland in 1872," 224
Macdonell, John, "The Land Question," 216
Maccrom, J.S., "Unseen and Idealities," 264
Mahaffy, J. P., "The Critical Philosophy for English Readers," 206
Maitland, Edward, "By-and-By: an Historical Romance of the Future," 254
Man, City, A, "The Money Market," &c. &c., by, 477
Markham, A. H., R.N., "The Cruise of the Rosario amongst the New Hebrides," 223
Martin, Frances, "Angélique Arnauld, Abbess of Port Royal," 504
"Massachusetts, Fourth Annual Report of the State Board of Health of," 234
Maurice, Rev. F. D., "Sermons Preached in Country Churches," 456

Menzies, S., "Political Women," 485
Meyer, Bruno, "Aus der æsthetischen Pädagogik," 535
Meyer, H. A. W., Th.D., "Critical and Exegetical Handbook to the Epistle to the Galatians," 453
Mill, J. S., "The Right of Property in Land," 475
Miller, Joaquim, "Songs of the Sierras," 263
Mint, The, and the Bank of England, 271–304; the site of the Mint, 271; proposed change, 272; the danger attending the gold run, 272; present condition of the Mint, 273; why should not the Mint be self-supporting? 273; the expense of our currency, 274; the working expenses of our Mint, 275; compared with other Mints, 275; its output, 275; the cost of our gold coinage, 276; workmen's wages, 277; weight of 1000 sovereigns, 277; the Act of 18 Charles II., cap. 5, 278; price of gold per oz., 279; profit made by the Bank, 280; loss sustained by the Mint, 280; the case of silver, 281; how the Mint regulations act, 282; profits gained by the Bank, 283; the purchase of bullion by the Bank, 283; what are the consequences of the system? 284; the Bank of England and the Exchanges, 284; exportation of English sovereigns, 285; light sovereigns, 285, 286; number of gold coins in circulation, 286; how long a sovereign lasts, 286; extract from Professor Jevons, 287; the result of light sovereigns, 288; proposed remedies, 289; the value of the English sovereign abroad, 290; results to trade, 291; quotation from Mr. Field, 291; further quotations from Mr. Field, 292, 293; how differences in currency act prejudicially to native industry, 293; Mr. Field on, 294; how our loss may be prevented, 295; the imposition of a seignorage, 296; action of a seignorage, 296, 297; extract from Mr. Newmarch, 297; from Mr. Göschen, 298; examination of their statements, 298, 299; a crucial case, 299; the argument of the Royal Commissioners, 300; light sovereigns, 300; seignorage, 301; Mint charges in other countries, 302; proposed changes, 303; conclusion, 304
Moberly, Rev. Charles G., "Hamlet, Prince of Denmark," edited by, 268
Morris, Rev. R., LL.D., "Old English Homilies," edited by, 249
Müller, F. Max, "Introduction to the Science of Religion," 211
Murphy, J. Nicolas, "Terra Incognita: or the Convents of the United Kingdom," 220
——— J. G., "The Human Mind," 471
Murray, J. H., "The Complaynt of Scotland," edited by, 249

NEWMAN, John Henry, D. D., "The Idea of a University Defined and Illustrated," 472
——— ——— "Historical Sketches," 502
Nichol, John, B.A., "Hannibal. A Historical Drama," 264

OLIPHANT, Mrs., "Innocent. A Tale of Modern Life," 259
"Onlita, The Serf," 526
Ouvry, Col. H. A., C.B., "Stein and his Reforms in Prussia; with Reference to the Land Question in England," 216

PALMER, William, "The Patriarch and the Tsar," 204
Palladius, see Lodge, Rev. R., M.A.
Perrier, Amelia, "A Winter in Morocco," 227
Pettenkofer, Max, Dr. "Ueber den Werth der Gesundheit für eine Stadt," 491
Physician, A, "The Pentateuch in Contrast with the Science and Moral Sense of our Age," 201
Picton, J. Allanson, "The Mystery of Matter, and other Essays," 207
"Picture Gallery, The," 536
Pictures, The Use of Looking at, 415–423; matter-of-fact people and pictures, 415; the end and aim of pictures—beauty, 415; the same aim both in the representation of figures and in landscapes, 415; the interpretation of beauty the end of all painting, 416; the enjoyment of this beauty the end of all picture-seeing, 416; what is beauty? 416; as a visible quality, 416; as a quality of form, 416; as symmetry of parts, 416; as a quality of feature, 416; the complex nature of beauty, 416; the beauty of the human face, 417; repose necessary in painting and statuary, 417, 418; the meaning of statuesque immobility in pictures and sculpture, 418; examples, 418; pleasing violations of these canons, 419; especially in Dutch pictures, 418,

419; of pictures which possess an interest for a certain class of men, 419; a love for the past sometimes means a distrust of the future, 420; the historical and the poetical value of a work of art estimated, 420; portraits, 420; the part which the photographer plays, 420; painting has no right to exist unless guided and directed by the imagination, 420; comic pictures, 420, 421; trade pictures, 421; dishonest and meretricious pictures, 421; "compositions," 421, 422; the meaning and motive of attitude, 422; remarks on landscape painting, 422, 423; general summary, 423; how to judge a picture, 423

Pingaud, L., "La Politique de Saint Gregoire le Grand," 251

Plumptre, E. H., M.A., "Æschylos. A New Translation," 253

"Post-Office Stationers', Printers', Booksellers', Publishers', and Paper Makers' Directory, 224

Potthast, A., "Regesta Pontificum Romanorum," 513

Proctor, Richard A., B. A., "The Moon," 489

——————————— "Light Science for Leisure Hours," 489

Raine, James, M.A., "Historical Letters and Papers from the Northern Registers," 505

Redcliffe, P.C., K.G., "Why am I a Christian?" 461

"Reformer, A True," 514

Richards, Alfred Bates, "So Very Human," 260

Robinson, Wade, "Loveland," 265

"Roland, The Chanson de," 32—44; Eginhard upon Roland, 32; the legendary character of Roland, 32; in the Pyrenees, in Germany, and in Italy, 33; M. Léon Gautier's edition, "Le Chanson de Roland," 33; M. Gautier's text, 33; how all art should be studied to be enjoyed, 34; the Epic of Roland, 34; its action, 34; its history, 34; is it a mere version of a Solar myth? 35; Dr. Hugo Meyer's theory, 36; Mr. Cox's view, 36; epic poetry, 37; Roland regarded as a real "family song," 38; analysis of "Roland," 39, 40; the character of Ganelon, 40, 41; further analysis, 41; description of the battle, 42; the death of Roland, 43; conclusion of the poem, 43, 44

Roquette, O.; "Geschichte der Deutschen Dichtung, 249

Rusden, H. K., "The Treatment of Criminals in Relation to Science," 479

Rutherford, John, "The Troubadours," 270

S. C. V., "Letters to and from Rome in the Years A.D. 61–63," selected and translated by, 463

Sandwith, Humphrey, C.B., "The Land and Landlordism," 475

Schools, Public and Private, 1—32; Commission into the Condition of our Public Schools, 1; the general tenor of the Report, 2; object of the present paper, 3; the general feeling regarding Public Schools, 4; conference of head-masters at Birmingham, 5; school monopolies, 6; the case of Civil Engineering, 7; further illustrations from Civil Engineering, 8; the Commissioners on private schools, 9; requirements of a Middle-class Education, 10; the "mercantile theory," 10, 11; Professor Connington on educational theories, 11; private and public schools, 12; What is a Public School? 13; the historical element in public schools, 14; the disadvantage under which Public Schools labour, 15; Mr. Lowe on public and private schools, 15, 16; private schoolmasters and public schoolmasters contrasted, 16; their lots in life, 16; the joint-stock principle applied to schools, 17; Proprietary schools, 17; advertising schools, 17, 18; the monitory and fagging systems, 18, 19; Eton and Westminster types of the public school, 19; public school training, 20; public schoolmen as represented in the Houses of Parliament, 21; at the Bar, 21; the case of professional men, 22; Private Schools and Middle-class Examinations, 23; Honour-men at the Universities, 24; "leaving-certificates," 25; low standard of Pass Men, 25; the monitorial system, 26, 27; punishments, 27; fagging, 27, 28; "shirking" at Eton, 29, 30; moral tone at public schools, 30, 31; summary, 31, 32

Schrool, A., "Wissenschaft und Leben," 486

"Seen and Heard," 261

Sewell, E. M., "A Catechism of Roman History," 253

Shephard, J. S., "Over the Dovrefjeld," 482

Sidgwick, A., "Scenes from Euripides," (Rugby Ed.), 253

Sinclair, J. S. T., "Der Deutsch-Französische Krieg," 484
Smith, Alexander, M.D., "Fever and Cholera from a New Point of View," 237
——— Edward, M.D., "Foods," 234
——— James, Rev., M.A., "The Coming Man," 513
Somaj Brahmo, Annual of the," 458
Spir, A., "Denken und Wirklichkeit," 209
Stephen, J. Fitzjames, Q.C., "Liberty, Equality, Fraternity," 212
"Stream, Against the," 521
Strauss, David, "The Old Faith and the New," 202
Stretton, H., "Hester Morley's Promise," 519
Stubbs, W.M.A., see Coventry, Walter of Sturgess, Dr., "Introduction to Clinical Medicine," 236
Suffield, R. R., "Five Letters on a Conversion to Roman Catholicism," 459
Sulivan, Captain, G. L., R.N., "Dhow Chasing in Zanzibar Waters," 221
Swanwick, Anna, "The Dramas of Æschylus," 580
Symonds, John Addington, "Studies of the Greek Poets," 506

TAINE, H.A., "History of English Literature," 511
Taylor, J. E., "Geological Stories," 231
Thackeray, Miss, "Old Kensington," 258
Thomé, O. W., Dr., "Schlulgesundheitspflege," 476
Thompson, Edith, "History of England," 253
Todhunter, J., M.A., F.R.S., "The Conflict of Studies," 219
Tottenham, G. I., "Harcourt," 261
Trench, R. C., D.D. (Archbishop of Dublin), "Plutarch: his Life, his Lives, and his Morals," 507
Troutbeck, Rev. John, M.A., see Dale, Rev. Reginald, F., M.A.
Tyerman, Rev. L., "The Oxford Methodists," 247
Tyndall, John, F.R.S., "Six Lectures on Light," 487
——— "Principal Forbes and his Biographers," 487

VERA, A., "Strauss, L'Ancienne et la Nouvelle Foi," 469
Victoria, "Tenth Report of the Board of Education of, for 1871," 224
Volition, The Determinist Theory of: its Statement and History, 304–319; the problem of the Will, 304; arguments and counter-arguments, 304; Professor Huxley's view, 305; Determinism, 305; Fatalism, Determinism, Calvinism, 305; arguments by which they are each supported, 305, 306; examination of Fatalism, 306; its meaning, and the meaning of fatalists proper, 306; fatalism confused with determinism, 307; determinism examined, 308; its component elements, 308; statement of the determinist theory, 308, 309; the consequences of this view, 310; the vulgar notion of moral desert, 310; how viewed by the determinist, 311; what part punishment plays in the scheme of the determinist, 311; replies which have been made to the determinist theory, 312, 313; Calvinism examined, 313; of what it is composed, 313; how it is opposed to determinism, 313, 314; history of the relevant ideas, 314; Aristotle's view, 313; his conception of determinism, 315; Buridan's treatment, 316; Bernardino Ochino, 316; his Labyrinthi, 316; examination of, 316, 317; Hobbes and determinism, 317; Bramhall's confusion, 317, 318; new phase of the controversy, 318; Copleston's Enquiry into the Doctrines of Necessity and Predestination, 318; the future of determinism, 319
Voysey, Charles, M.A., "The Sling and the Stone," 205

WARREN, John Leicester, "Searching the Net," 523
Weigelt, G., "Die Nordfriesischen Inseln," 482
White, John Pagen, F.R.C.S., "Lays and Legends of the English Lake Country," 511
"White Rose and Red," 522
Whiting, Sidney, "Poems," 265
Williamson, T. L., "Short Lectures explanatory of our Land Laws," 476
Wilson, Daniel, LL.D., "Caliban, the Missing Link," 252
——— H. Schütz, "Studies and Romances," 527
Winans, Ross, "One Religion, Many Creeds," 453
Women, The Education of, in America, 320–337; general standard of education in America, 320; difficulties in education which had to be encountered, 321; two leading principles in school economy, 321; Professor Quincy on the admission of women to a University career, 322; Oberlin College, 323; its success, 323; results of, 324; Horace Mann, 324, 325; Antioch College, 325; schools at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, and St. Louis, 325; Harvard University, 325; Michigan University, 326; love-making, remarks on, 326; the effect of the two sexes mixing together, 327; Mr. Harris's report, 327, 328; Dr. Fairchild's report, 329, 330, 331; the standard of scholarship raised by the association of the sexes, 331; other advantages arising from joint schools and colleges, 332; the character of the social intercourse, 333; Michigan University; 333, 334; the case of Miss Stockwell, 334; the Annual Report of the Michigan University, July, 1872, on women, 335; the future of women in America, 336; teaching by women, 337

Wood, Wallace, D.D., "Chronos. Mother Earth's Biography," 230

Woods, H. G., "Herodotus," edited by, 253

Wright, T., M.A., F.S.A., "The Anglo-Latin Satirical Poets and Epigrammatists of the 12th Century," 248

Wuttke, H., "Die Entstehung der Schrift," 250

YEOMAN, An English, "The Epic of a Day," 525

"ZEALAND, New, Results of a Census of, taken for the Night of the 27th of Feb. 1871," 224

Zealand Bar, Member of the New, "The Education of Man," 484

Zeller, Edward, "Staat und Kirche," 473

Zinke, F. Barham, "A Month in Switzerland," 225

Zöllner, Professor, "Die Kräfte der Natur," 230

END OF VOL. XLIV.

LONDON :
SAVILL, EDWARDS AND CO., PRINTERS, CHANDOS STREET,
COVENT GARDEN.